1973 Princeton University South 14 – North 10
 South Coaches Glenn Thiel, Virginia, Bill Heiser, Kenyon, Ross Sachs, F&M
 North Coaches Richie Moran, Cornell, Paul Doherty, Adelphi, Sid Jamieson, Bucknell

The South outscored the North on the hottest day of the year, and the 90-degree temperature probably sent some lacrosse fans to their first day at the beaches. The crowd of 4,000 was below the usual attendance for the All-Star game but still excellent since Princeton agreed to take the game at a very late date. In the overtime period, Doug Schrelber of Maryland put the South ahead on a shot from the front of the crease. The South gained a two goal advantage on a beautiful relay pass from Tom Duquette of Virginia to Gary Besosa of Maryland to Don Krohn of Hopkins who hit the net for the 18th and winning goal of the game. Bloomquist of Massachusetts kept the North in the game on a very fine solo effort, but following the faceoff with the South in possession, Englehart of W&L scored the final goal of the game. The South gained the opening faceoff at the start of the second quarter, and scored their first goal. At 9:51 of the second quarter the score was tied at 5-5. The North held a 7-6 lead at the beginning of the third quarter, but after 4:24 of the third quarter the South had gone ahead, 10-7. Early in the final quarter, the North failed to score with a two man advantage. Later the South led, 11-8, Hofstra's Reid scored the North's ninth goal that sent the teams into overtime. Duquette was the MVP, with four goals and four assists.

1974 Stone Mountain, GA South 13 – North 10
 South Coaches Mickey Cochrane, Bowling Green, Dick Watts, UMBC, Al Alberts W&M
 North Coaches Howdy Myers, Hofstra, Jim Adams, Penn, Art Robinson, Princeton

The favored South survived a shaky start and extended its domination of the annual series. The North scored first-three minutes into the first period and scored four more times while holding the South at bay until five minutes into the second period. The the Southerners defense began to get tough, and the offense made its appearance. In a 17 minute blitz, the South scored five goals, while shutting out the Northerners. From this point on neither side could consistently stop the others attack; the North scored two goals in the third period while the South totaled five, then each team scored three times in the final stanza. Pat O'Meally, the Maryland attackman, scored four goals and was named Jason Stranahan Award winner. Jack Thomas of Johns Hopkins contributed two goals and two assists,

1975 Cornell University, Ithaca, NY North 25 – South 24
 South Coaches Dick Watts, UMBC, Paul Griffin, Roanoke, Paul Doty, NC

North Coaches Art Robinson, Princeton, Mort LaPointe, Bowdoin, Tom Hayes, Rutgers
 In the highest scoring game in collegiate history, the North outlasted the South after 72 1/2 minutes of furious offense, 25-24, at Cornell before a record North-South crowd of 7,000 very satisfied fans. Everyone had predicted a high-scoring game, but no one expected what eventually happened. Phil Marino of Hofstra was named MVP with eight assists, while teammate Mike Rinch of Rutgers tallied eight goals. For the South, Doug Radenbaugh of Maryland had six goals and two assists, while towson St. teammates Jim Darcangelo (five goals and two assists) and Bob Griebe (three goals and six assists) were the big guns. The North led by as much as 12-6 in the second quarter, but the South rallied to tie at the half. The second half was back and forth up to the overtime. Adelphi's Kirk Jurgeievich and Radebaugh scored offsetting goals in the regular overtimes, before Brown's David White scored his only goal of the day to give the North the win and send the fans home for dinner.

1976 University of Virginia North 22 – South 17
 South Coaches Jack Emmer, W&L, Dick Edell, Maryland, Henry Ciccarone, Hopkins
 North Coaches Cliff Stevenson, Brown, Chuck Winters, Cortland, Dana Swan, Haverford
 Cornell's Mike French, Jon Levine and Bill Marino combined for 12 goals and seven assists to lead the North to a 22-17 win over the South. French, selected as the games most valuable player, scored five goals to go with four assists as the North broke open a close game with seven fourth quarter goals. The South took an 8-5 lead at the quarter and led 10-9 at the half. However, the North took the lead early in the second half on goals by French and Marino and never looked back as it won its second straight game in the series. Roanole's Mike Hayden paced the South with three goals and one assist, while Maryland's Frank Urso had four assists along with a goal.

1977 UMBC North 20 – South 15
 South Coaches Henry Ciccarone, Hopkins, Wilbur Gobrecht, Dickinson, Rick Seller, Ohio W
 North Coaches Tom Hayes, Rutgers, Bob McHenry, Yale, Roy Simmons, Syracuse
 The North won its third straight game in the seies for the first time ever abd cut the South's lead in the classic to 19-15-1. The Yankees held a tight 5-3 lead after the first period but outscored the South 7-1 in the second quarter to break the game open and take a 12-4 half time advantage. The South hung on, though, and after trailing 16-9 heading into the final quarter, the Southerner's waged a furious rally that cut the North advantage to 17-15 with 3:20 left. The North regained control, however, and clinched the win on goals by Eamon McEaney of Cornell, Pete Hollis of Penn and Ward Bitter of Boston College. Mike Page led the North attack with two goals and four assists and was named the MVP. His teammate, Hollis also went 2-3. McEaney was 2-2 and his Cornell teammate Dan Mackesey Played very well in goal. Washington College standout John Cheek paced the South offense with five goals. Navy's Jeff Long had three, while Richie Hirsch of Hopkins had two. A crowd of 5,000 watched the exciting game.
